HOMESTEAD VALLEY COMMUNITY COUNCIL MEETS

The Homestead Valley Community Council, representing the communities of Landers, Johnson Valley, Yucca Mesa and Flamingo Heights, met yesterday. Reporter Derwood Andrews said various items of mutual concern were discussed. Yesterday afternoon the Homestead Valley Community Council met at the Yucca Mesa Community Center. Amongst the agenda items was a presentation on the proposed Pipes Canyon Wind Farm, which Z107.7 broke on this newscast. Further items were the news that nearly $1,800 has been raised so far for the second annual Marine Package Fund. Boxing will take place on Thursday 28th July at 9.00 in the morning at The Mesa Community Center. Everyone is welcome to attend and help get these gifts off to our Marines; this year VMU-3 will be the recipients. Other items were a position letter to law makers on renewable energy on Public Lands and a consensus to draft a letter to the County regarding why the $150 extra tax for fire protection in SRA areas has come about and wouldn't it be of more use to man the Fire Station in Johnson Valley with the funds.
